

Ruston Poole International Strengthens its Research Team

Healthcare and Life Sciences search specialist, Ruston Poole International, has appointed Sara Rudnay as Research Manager, based in their London office.

Sara has a ten year track record of working internationally in technology and healthcare research gained at Norman Broadbent and Talentmark, where she was previously Research Manager.

Commenting on the appointment, Executive Chairman, David Collingham, says “we have taken this important decision to strengthen our in-house research at a time when clients require more intelligent, focussed research. Sara will bring just that to our international search operation.”